

FREIGHT FORWARDING

FREIGHT MANAGEMENT MADE SIMPLE

Learn how to remove the frustrations that come with managing freight forwarding requirements.

Freight Forwarding

Freight Management made simple

Learn how to remove the frustrations that come with managing freight forwarding requirements.

Regardless of your product, industry or size of your business, managing the movement of your goods from point A to point B safely, smoothly and efficiently can be complex, frustrating and even expensive.

With so many moving parts that require a great deal of time, resources and carriers to manage, freight can be a burden on your business, especially when you're trying to scale and reach new markets

You need a solution to simplify freight management.

That's where we come in. Livingston can analyze your freight requirements, source the right carriers at the best rates and/or work with the ones you already know and trust on your behalf to manage the movement of your goods. We take the burden of managing freight requirement entirely off your shoulders.

Greater visibility into your shipments

We actively manage your shipments and proactively push detailed reports on vendors, destinations, types of loads and vessel names right to you so you don't have to look up shipment numbers and plug them in to a search tool. You'll know where your shipments are and who's handling them, at all times.

Managing your freight forwarding needs has never been easier.

Management of shipments, including documentation

Our experience with importing, exporting and documentation means peace of mind that your shipments are compliant with today's international shipping requirements – and that they'll get where they need to be, on time. Combined with our streamlined processes and trade technology, you can trust your goods are in good hands.

Single provider for all your freight needs

We act as an extension of your current team or a complete department for your company, coordinating everything from shipping and customs to updates and record keeping. That way, you can free up your resources to focus on your core business.

Full-service from ground, to sea, to air and in-between

No matter how complex it may be, we arrange the journey for your goods that best suits your timeline and budget. If it involves two planes, a ship, a truck and a train, we take care of the details including pickups, drop-offs and transfers to save you the stress.

What's included in our freight management services?

- End-to-end shipment coordination
- Regular status updates on all shipments
- Management of all required export documentation
- Customs clearance with brokers
- Delivering orders and following up on deliveries
- Filing of export declarations
- Processing carrier invoices and freight payments
- Notifications of new international shipping regulations
- Storage of records and documents for five years

Why choose Livingston to manage freight forwarding for you?

At Livingston, we're committed to simplifying trade. That extends to our freight management services.

- Complete coordination from start to finish that frees up your resources to focus on your core business.
- Improved insights into your shipments to know where they are and who's handling them around the globe.
- Streamlined process with a single point of contact for your shipments – regardless of the carrier or lane.

Contact Livingston today!

Contact Livingston

Have questions or need help with your freight management program?

Contact your account executive,
write to us at: simplify@livingstonintl.com or give us a call at 1-800-837-1063

